In a time that doesn't exist yet, beyond the tallest mountains and deepest rivers, there lay a hidden magical forest where trees whispered secrets and stars danced above the treetops. This forest was peaceful, filled with creatures who lived in harmony—until one day, a mysterious shadow began creeping in, dimming the light and silencing the song of the woods.

Just outside the forest lived Finley, a clever and curious fox who loved stories of magic. When he noticed the forest growing darker and quieter, his heart stirred with concern. He knew he had to do something.
